

1 ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

2 World-Wide-Web Vending Machines™ is a network of vending machines of electronic 3 information. The vending machine members are linked by wire, cable and wireless. Each 4 member comprises receiving, memory, displaying and disseminating units to receive,
5 store, manipulate, retrieve, display and dispense electronic, electronically transformed 6 and electronically stored information. Each member comprises a receiving unit which 7 receives information from various sources, software unit to selectively manipulate subsets
8 of information. It comprises a viewing screen to display information and a disseminating 9 unit to transmit, transfer and beam information. It comprises a printer and a binding
10 device for making copy. Moreover, the invention provides a method of disseminating 11 electronic, electronically transformed and stored information by a network of vending 12 machines.